McKinley and Protection.

The reception given in Bellaire to Governor McKinley was a deserved tribute to the chief magistrate of the state, whose administration has been on the highest plan and for the best interests of the people. It was a testimonial to the man, whom the people of Ohio, in common with all Americans, honor for his sterling man hood qualities. It was an earnest and enthusiastic greeting to the recognized leader of the champions of protection to American industry. The men who listened to his calm statement of facts not to be controverted, who followed his unanswerable argument, realized that they were in the presence of a master of the subject, and a friend who had battled for their homes and will not give up the contest while there is life in him.

There was not a soul in that great audience that was not impressed with the dead earnestness of the man, no less than with the great force of the valiant champion of protection. There was not one who did not appreciate keenly the change that has come over the Ohio valley since the country turned from the policy which McKinley advocates to the destructive policy advocated by the Democratic party and in Ohio represented by Lawrenco T. Neal.

It was an impressive occasion that will be memorable in the Ohio valley.

The last remnant of "senatorial courtesy" would look well in the next international exhibit. It should be stuffed and put in a glass case so the moth won't reach it.

Internal Taxes on Tobacco.

The Democratic proposition to in crease the internal revenue tax on tabacco is bringing out responses. It is true that men can do without tobacco, so that it is not a necessary of life as bread is. Neither do tea and coffee stand with bread, yet they are classed among the necessaries.

The man with whom the use of tobacco is a habit of long standing would much sooner give up his ten or coffee than have his precious weed taken from him. To the laboring man in particular tobacco is a comfort not to be replaced by anything else. To increase internal taxes on tobacco is a short cut to the workingman's pocket. He must pay or he must do without.

The proposed increase of, the tobacco tax would make little difference to the consumers of high grade tobacco and little and cutting into wages segars now sold at five cents and upwards would be sold at the same prices

It is in the lower grades of segars, the "two-fors" and the stories that sell at retail seven for a dime, that the increased tax would show itself most. Further reduction of wages for making these segars is hardly practicable, certainly it is far from desirable. A poorer article of "two-fors" might be sold at the same price, but stogies would certainly

These and the lower grades of smoking and chewing tobaccos are what the poor man buys. He must pay more that the products of foreign labor, perhaps those products that compete with his own industry, may come through the custom houses at lower duty. This is part of the Democratic scheme of trariff reform."

A Big Land Swindle.

The New York World has turned up what has all the appearance of a swindle based on West Virginia land. The land is where it is represented to be, in Mc-Dowell county, and it is valuable. The point of the revelation is that the land is not owned by a certain Standard Coal and Timber Company which tays claim

A great deal of money has been realized by the sale of this company's bonds, and if the company does not own the land, the bonds represent, of course, so much money lost to the investors. The World article alleges forgery in the recent conveyances and bases the title of the Standard Company on that forgery,

Nobody is more interested than West Virginians are to bring to light any crookedness in which West Virginia land is made to figure. If eastern sharpers have fleeced investors it is to be hoped that they are within reach of Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and if any West sea, is in a fearfully dirty and neglected The Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment; and the Intrinspose Cariyle's home in Cheyne row, Chelprompt punishment punishment punishment punishment punishment punishment pun Virgi*ians have helped them all West Virginia will be glad to see them suffer the same fate.

The World mentions Mr. Ohley, lately secretary of state, as the company's representative in West Virginia. Without opportunity to inquire into the facts the INTELLIGENCER supposes that Mr. Ohley's connection with the company was purely formal as attorney in

THE Ohio man who isn't proud of the governor of that great state should be ashamed to keep company with himself.

A Rich Man's Son.

The danger of having a weak head and a rich father is again illustrated in the son of ex-Senator Fair, who counts his wealth by the millions. The heir to these millions has led a life of riot. His latest escapade is his marriage to a professional lewd woman notorious in San Francisco. Wit her he has started for Europe.

The broken-hearted old father has changed his will, leaving to his scapegrace son one hundred dollars instead of the fortune of about $15,000 .-000 which would have gone to him. A life of ease without labor or responsibility has ruined this son of a father who began with nothing and made his own way.

Sons of poor men go wrong, but this young man has gone the way of the idle rich to whom money is a mere means of sensual gratification. The elder Fair had a better start in his poverty than his son had in his father's wealth.

WHEN Ohio and West Virginia hitch horses, something has to move. O, what a night in Bellaire.

He's All Right.

Yesterday the Register advised its readers "that Governor McKinley is a candidate for re-election in Ohio," and incidentally remarked that "the Ohio county Republicans have been appealed to" to go over and join with the Bellaire brothren.

Appealed to! The Ohio county Republicans needed no appeal. They would have been tearing mad if they hadn't been let in on the ground floor. You can't hear a McKinley every night. Moreover there are thousands of West Virginia Republicans who feel that they are charter member of the Great American McKinley club.

To all of which may be added, Don't you worry about McKinley and his re-election. The Mississippi plan doesn't work in Ohio. The re-election is all right. The only question of interest is to know where the majority will stop.

Ir may be that a big Republican ma jority in Ohio will not turn the tariff butchers from the error of their way, but it will play an important part in the politics of the near future. Give it to'em anyhow, brethren of the Buckeye State!

Ir is probable, but not absolutely certain, that the Democrats will save Virginia this year. The Populists are giving them no end of trouble in the Old Dominion.

SENATOR MORGAN cannot hope to be admitted to the head of the line when the President resumes business at the pie counter.

THENTON, N. J., Oct. 19 .- Promptly at 12:30 to-day the procession of the troops, governors and invited guests started for the monument. The reviewing stand was erected in front of the county court house, on Brond street, and here, after the coremonies at the monument, the procession was reviewed by Governor Werts. There were about 5,000 troops in line from New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey, the command being formed under the command of Generall Sewell, of this state. All of the large wagons in this state. All of the large wagons in town were pressed into service and loaded with boxes filled with sandwiches. These were taken to Greenwood, where they were served out as lunch. Coffee to the extent of 1,000 gallons was given to the troops. The day was cool and the streets filled with people wearing badges and carrying flags. The ground near the monument was fairly black with humanity, waiting for the procession.
